RED WINE

SANGIOVESE (CHIANTI, BRUNELLO, VINO NOBILE, ROSSO)

All made from Sangiovese grapes with very different expressions...Chianti has more bright cherry fruit and earth while the Brunello and Vino Nobile di Montepulciano are made from the Sangiovese Grosso clone and tend to have more dark brooding fruit. Of course the new world The Ferrari Carano is a whole different ball of wax...jam packed with ripe lively California fruit.

DOLCETTO

Oh Little Sweet one...well not exactly sweet but has wonderful notes of dried fruit, figs and prunes. These two wines both from Alba couldn't be more different. The Pira has such an intense strength and depth of character while the Gianfranco Alessandria is more delicate and feminine with hints of rose petal.

LUIGI PIRA, ALBA, ITALY 2009	36
GIANFRANCO ALESSANDRIA, ALBA, ITALY 2009	34

...talk about passion and sense of place...a truly amazing wine!!!

NEBBIOLO

Clouds and Fog... These are such special wines from the Piedmont region showing characteristics of dried cherry, leather, licorice, violet and rose. Gutsy tannic structure combined with crisp acidity makes for ageworthy wines that sing. In general Barolo is more masculine while Barbaresco tends to be more feminine. The classic-traditional producers of the bunch...Conterno, Borgogno & Oddero. The New World spirited Mascarello, Spinetta, Boroli, Ada Nada, Grasso and Correggia have a much more modern approach.
